Day One: Introduction

In the heart of East London, the LCFBA15 show is warmly welcomed into the old Nicholls and Clarke building. Here, guests are invited to view the showcase where the array of talent spans across all colleges. From the pinned prosthetics to the live catwalk show, the showrooms are home to a hub of creative activity.

Today is the private view where both students and industry are brought together to witness the courses in unison. From here at our very own BA Fashion Journalism fashion desk, we will be reporting live across the week's events, bringing you the latest updates and fashion news as they happen.

Don't forget to tweet us your highlights using the hashtag #LCFBA15
